Zurich, 14 January - 2008

Call for Papers for International Java Technology Conference successfully closed

Speakers from all over the world come to Zurich for Jazoon'08

Java und Open Source experts have delivered numerous proposed topics for the Jazoon conference program which will take place June 23 – 26, 2008. In comparison to the prior year, 80 per cent more interested speakers who want to exchange their know-how, experiences and solutions with an international Java community submitted proposals.

For this year's conference 80 per cent more submissions for the conference program have been received. Another pleasing fact is an active international participation with up to 26 countries. Within the next weeks the Jazoon Program Committee under the direction of Joachim Hagger (CTO of Netcetera) and Patrick Walther (Java User Group Switzerland) is going to select the most relevant topics and presentations.

Internationally renowned experts

The following internationally renowned experts already confirmed their participation at Jazoon'08:

- Joshua Bloch (author of Effective Java, Google)
- Neal Gafter (Java Evangelist, Google)
- Rod Johnson (creator of Spring, SpringSource)
- Ted Neward (author of Effective Enterprise Java, Neward & Associates)
- Martin Odersky (creator of the programming language Scala, ETH Lausanne)
- Simon Phipps (Chief Open Source Officer, Sun Microsystems)
- James Ward (Flex Evangelist, Adobe Systems)

Further speakers will be announced in the coming weeks.

JAZOON08

THE INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON JAVA TECHNOLOGY
JUNE 23 - 26, 2008 ZÜRICH

Development trends like Android in conference program

Jazoon is the first developers conference where Android – a software set for the development of mobile applications which was introduced last November by the Open Handset Alliance – will be a focus topic in the conference program. In addition, latest developments and trends in different areas of middleware like e.g. development tools, security and Web2.0 technologies will be presented.

Registration with early bird conditions

Until April 30, 2008 registrants receive special early bird conditions upon registration on www.jazoon.com. Furthermore, students, groups from 4 persons and Java User Group members receive attractive special conditions.
